Carnival Loss Forces Club Budgets Freeze

The recent Winter Carnival incurred a debt of approximately $236, Outing Club President John Yula, revealed Tuesday night. In making his report to the Student Council, Yula stated that although not all of the bills have been received, the estimate is within five or ten dollars of the actual deficit. As a result of this deficit the Council was forced to temporarily freeze all of the club budgets at a special meeting the following night.

LEE PROPOSES ACTION

At the Tuesday night meeting, the rules of order were suspended in order to allow the new business to be brought before the Council at the beginning of the meeting. Mr. Lee, Chairman of the Club Status Committee, moved that the Council freeze all of the club budgets with the exception of the publications. He stated that he made this recommendation on behalf of the committee.

Lee explained that the clubs were to have submitted their semester reports a week prior to the meeting. He had only received one report as of that date. He felt that in view of the fact that the clubs were notified of the deadline in advance of the date, some punitive action was in order. Mr. Lee's motion was ruled out of order due to a point of procedure of his committee outlined in the constitution which had not been executed.

SOPHOMORE PROPOSAL

Mr. Canavan then moved that the Student Council approve of the Sophomore class requesting that classes be suspended on the Friday of Junior Weekend 1958. Canavan stated that the class had approved of such a measure at a recent meeting and merely wished the Council's sanction to carry a petition to Father Dupont.

G.A.Tessier Main Speaker At Career Day March 1

Keynote speaker of Career Day 1957 is Mr. G. A. Tessier, the Alumni Office announced today. The present manager of General Foods' Maxwell House plant in Hoboken, N.J., will officially open the annual event on March 1.

Mr. Tessier was born in Swanton, Vermont and was graduated from St. Michael's in 1943. He pursued graduate work in chemical engineering at the Stevens Institute of Technology, in human relations and in labor relations at St. Peter's College.

LADDER OF SUCCESS

Starting with General Foods in 1943 at Hoboken, N.J., as a junior technologist in their Central Laboratories, he worked his way up to his present position of Manager of that plant. It is the largest coffee-processing plant in the world.

In Hoboken, Tessier is a Director of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Rotary Club. He and his wife and four children reside in suburban New Providence, New Jersey.

OTHER CONFERENCES

In addition to Mr. Tessier, a complete panel of alumni of prominence in their chosen fields will conduct occupational conferences. Career Day consists of the return to campus of outstanding Michaelmen alumni, who mentor conferences in various fields of the professions and business. Occupations included are: Education, Law, Politics, Sales, Graduate Schools, Medicine, Dentistry, Federal Civil Service, Advertising, Personnel and Journalism.

The conferences and entire program are conducted for all students of the college and are open. Benefits of such discussions apply to men of all four classes. The Alumni Office expresses its desire that students will take advantage of this excellent opportunity.

Seniors Lead Students On Dean's Honor List

The Dean's Honor list for the first semester as released by Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E., Dean of Studies, is dominated by the Class of '57, with 33 men worthy of recognition. The seniors are followed by the sophomores, who placed 28, and close behind them are the freshmen, with 26 named to the coveted list. The juniors were last in total number with 17, but were equal in percentage, as they have the smallest number among the four classes this year.

95'S LEAD

The seniors are led by George Little with 95 average. He is in turned followed by Donald Seymour, Edward Kluff and Marcel Dominque, who attained averages of 93.8, 93.7 and 93.2 respectively. Jack Aneser's 95 tops the Junior Class with the second highest average, 93.2, held by Brother Vander Weel.

The Class of '59 is headed by Brother Bourn with another 95 average. The only real competition is offered by Jim Canavan and Joe Gallagher, both with 92.3. In the Freshman Class, George Champagne captured top laurels with a 93.4. Paul Lanctot and John Shea were next with 92.8 and 92.7 respectively.

Dean's Honor List. The following students, having achieved or maintained a general average of 85% or better at the end of the first semester, have merited citation on the DEAN'S HONOR LIST:

Debaters Set For Tourneys

The Newman Debating Society has completed plans for the remainder of the year. President William Kreuter announced that the club has four tournaments remaining on their intercollegiate schedule. Of these, three are varsity competitions and one is a novice tournament.

SIENA TOURNEY

On March 15 and 16 the club will send two varsity teams, one negative and one affirmative, to the Siena Invitational Tournament at Siena College in Albany, New York. This tournament offers a trophy to the winning school and individual awards to the outstanding speakers.

The following week, the NFCCS will hold a tournament at Fairfield University, Fairfield, Connecticut. The Society hopes to send two teams to the tournament, which is also a varsity competition.

NOVICES AT SMC

On the home front, St. Michael's novice debaters will be host to several colleges in the annual SMC Novice Invitational Debate Tournament. The schools which have been invited to participate are: Middlebury College, Siena College, University of Vermont, College of Our Lady of the Elms, St. Anselm's College and Dartmouth College. The date for the tournament has been set at March 9.

To climax the year the Society will send an affirmative and a negative team on

Class Debate Rearranged

The original date for Interclass Debating, February 25-27, has been changed to a later date, March 6, 7 and 8. Anyone is eligible to participate in this tournament if they haven't competed in more than three inter-collegiate debates and are not a member of the SMC Debating Club.

The controversial topic to be argued at the debates is: "Resolved: That the Legal Age for Voting in All National and Local Elections in the United States Be Eighteen Years of Age." Judges are Judge Costello, Attorney McNeil, Judge Akey and Attorney Harrington all of Burlington.

Registrar Attends Michigan Parley

Mr. Thomas A. Garrett, Registrar, is attending a conference of the Association of College Honor Societies this weekend at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He will represent Delta Epsilon Sigma, National Catholic Honor Society, of which he is president.

The conference, conducted February 22 and 23, is an annual executive meeting of delegates from national honor societies all over the country. DES is not presently a member of the Association but has sent delegates to four previous conventions by invitations.

The purpose of the confererence will be to devise methods by which honor societies can help to raise the standards of scholarship through society activity. Organizational problems of existing programs and technical details, such as minimum standards of honor societies, will also be discussed.

The theme of the 1957 convention is: "A major purpose of honor societies is to faster broad liberal culture in all branches of education."

Mr. Garrett has attended one previous conference of the Association representing DES. "We have benefited from these conferences in the past," he stated, "by learning the organizational procedures of other societies and contrasting them with our own." DES also became more explicit in stating requirements concerning the number and qualifications of candidates elected by each chapter every year. Contemplation of joining the Association of College Honor Societies required this detailed explanation of standards of DES.

Band's NY Trip Termed Success

The St. Michael's AFROTC band participated in the 1957 Saranac Lake Winter Carnival last weekend at Saranac Lake, N.Y. Band members marched in a Saturday afternoon parade and also presented a concert, which Cadet Captain Thomas Gibbs termed "well-received and very successful."

DEPARTURE

Totaling thirty in number, the musicians left campus by bus early Friday morning and arrived at Saranac Lake about noon. They were accompanied by Captain Wirt Griggs of the Air Force Cadre at SMC.

The band was the guest of the Saranac Lake Chamber of Commerce. Lodging was furnished in private homes of Saranac Lake residents and dates for the Winter Carnival Ball of Friday night were arranged.

Don McNeil and Fran Allison of T.V. and radio fame reigned as King and Queen of the affair. The Don McNeil Breakfast Clubbers all participated at the ball.

PARADE AND CONCERT

At 1:30 P.M. on Saturday, a parade was conducted. The St. Michael's AFROTC band, with twenty-four other bands and fifty floats, appeared in the gala parade, marching over a mile of Saranac Lake's main streets. Later in the afternoon the band, directed by Cadet Captain Thomas Gibbs, rendered a concert before an audience of 350 people. Following the concert, band members had the remainder of the day and evening at their disposal.

Crown'nSword Plans For New Members

The Crown and Sword Society, St. Michael's newest organization, voted to accept their Constitution and By-Laws at their last meeting, Thursday, February 14. The Society is now established on a fully official basis. Much credit is due to the Constitution committee whose chairman is John Steele.

Also at the last meeting, Donald Behringer, a Junior from Baldwin, N.Y., was elected to membership to fill a vacant spot. Behringer was selected from fifteen applicants.

The Crown and Sword set up a committee under George Latimer to screen applicants for membership in the organization for next year. Fifteen candidates will be selected to replace graduating members. Only members of this year's Sophomore Class will be considered as candidates.

In order to apply for membership in the Society, Sophomores must follow this procedure. Submit your name and campus address to Room 434, Alumni Hall, or any present member of the Crown and Sword. With his name each applicant is requested to submit a resume of all activities and honors at St. Mi-

THEY'RE FROZEN....

Wednesday evening at a special meeting of the Student Council, the ultimate source of any student function was frozen ... the allotment of money.

Except for campus publications, the remainder of clubs on campus will have to suspend activity until the answer to the $236 deficit suffered by the Outing Club can be accounted for. Why should student functions come to a standstill?

As remarked by one Club President at the meeting, the bulk of activities occurs during the spring season, and therefore what happens about planning them?

Before a solution can be accepted for the Winter Weekend problem, there should be one present answer. Through a long range program in planning the Academic Calendar, St. Michael's, - both the administration and students - should have suggestions.

The Administration can easily accept a plan which will help our student activities with distracting scholastic work. When the present Christmas Vacation was proposed five years ago, the main reason was Christmas work for the students. Certainly a revised post holiday schedule for assisting our weekends, especially the Winter Carnival could be the answer to the small student "interest".

Now the most important issue to face the Student Council will be the budget for the Junior Weekend. Just how will this class go about in trying to meet the approval of both the Moderator and the representatives of the Council. Does THE weekend at St. Michael's College have to suffer from previous activities such as the Winter Weekend?

We find especially among the social criers that solutions and answers are often fallacious. At the special meeting the other evening, the Council set up a committee to try to help solve the problem. Everyone, we hope, will be eagerly anticipating the results. We're sure Juniors will take special notice.

If the Committee is not successful, where will the solution reside? One suggestion is more action instead of neatly padded phrases. Must we continued to invoke the new 5th Amendment .. Student Participation?

The matter rests with your representative in the Student Council. Every student, let's remember, is represented in the Council. If any student has an opinion that would help to propose or even help terminate a problem ... use your discretion. See your representative!

Let's face our challenge. Is our campus dead, like many presume? Let's have "Letters To The Editor" in the MICHAELMAN.

DAILY MASS

7:00;7:30

NFCCS Writing Competition deadline is March 6. All entries are to be turned over to the Rev. Paul Gopaul, Lance Editor-in-Chief, or Jim Carroll, campus chairman, as soon as possible.

The fabulous season of Lent is rapidly approaching, and if you think things have been dull up to now you've got a big surprise in store for yourself. With all the emphasis placed on the spiritual side of life no one seems to remember that food is necessary for our meager existence. Whoever invented Lent must have had a place like Winooski in mind for carrying out the chastising routine. If ever there was true penance Vermont weather and our chow hall food certainly top the list . . . . .

Now don't rush off and kill yourself; there's a savior on campus. Yes, smack in the middle of this desolation comes forth Cecil B. D'Leary the well known producer of calypso shows on Ryan I. This missionary among the cannibals has decided to lend his services to the 1957 "Knightlights." With all sorts of new ideas he plans to raise the big show from the mire of complacency to the ephemeral heights of "Oklahoma". Are these words or are these words . . . . .?????

Drop over to Austin Hall during rehearsal and you'll hear:
"Move that pyramid over there . . . . ."
"Later boy, later . . . . ."
"Yes that's right, the Ice Follies . . . . ." "I don't care if they're booked in New York. Pay them double but get them here . . . . ."

The genius and brilliant production techniques of Cecil B. D'Leary bring forth into the realm of reality a picture so vivid and clear that all can easily visualize Shirley doing the Sabre Dance . . . . .?????

Let's dig deeper into this extravaganza. Casts of thousands, hundreds of sets, money by the bushel . . . . How is it possible for one man to oversee such a tremendous task successfully????? The answer is simple. He keeps his eyes closed . . . . . "Here", he says, "is another challenge and merely "Pygmalion" all over again . . . . ."

We certainly have a right to feel proud that this master-mind is blessing us with his talents. After carefully studying the situation here in the "Great North", Cecil decided that the perfect theme for such a show should be "Far Away Places." This is not to say that the show will be "out of it" . . . . . D'Leary is taking us all on a trip around Essex Junction. Expense is of little concern to Cecil as long as he's able to tap the poor box . . . . . In order to safeguard against an unsuspected encyclical by the Pope he is having tickets sent to all parents. Either they submit graciously or it's included in the tuition.

Some of the exotic places we'll be visiting via this mental giant imagination are: Coney Island, The Bowery, Boulder Dam, and our own Snack Bar. The music prepared for this fantastic production is out of this world . . . Choirs of angels playing on golden harps will accompany Little Richard singing his famous, "She's Got It." Cecil's plans were almost completely thwarted by the recent death of Toscanini. No he didn't have a part in the show, but was supposed to sell pop corn during intermission . . . . .

Besides the well-known names of Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, D'Leary recruits undiscovered talent from our own integrated dramatic figures on campus.

# # # #

Weaving, twisting, turning, homing in on radar . . . . The small compact shape of "Peter Prep" staggers on the horizon. Another night of showing devotion to the home of the brave . . . . .

Steps of Alumni are finally reached; a blink of the eye finds weary Pete on the threshold of deck three. Perched now on toe, he quietly starts down the hall asking all to be silent as he sings Swanee River. Before the coke machine is reached a tall dark shadow has appeared and now follows closely behind our unsuspecting troubadour. What is the meaning of the bear trap set a few paces away ????? WHAM . . . . . Caught on the flight home . . . . . Another well planned move is executed and our innocent friend is seen carted away. Doomed is this poor lad to debtor's prison and Cecil's Singing Sanitarium . . . . . "Here" says the great master, my answer to Mario Lanza . . . . .

All this is yours at the 1957 "Knightlights" and the price is only $99.50 per couple. This expensive ticket also entitles you to dinner (Blue Plate of course) at the famous Lotus Chinese Theatre Restaurant where Cecil will have his head imprinted in the cement leading to the side alley, anything for the missions.

This year's MANNESER AWARD for outstanding performance in the field of Loony Toon Melodies goes to to our own Cecil B. D'Leary . . . . .

ARTICLE I - NEW MEMBERSHIP

Section 1. NOMINATION

1. The members of the nomination Committee shall be appointed by the President and will consist of eleven (11) men including a chairman.

2. Nominations will be open from the beginning of the second semester until the second Sunday in February.

3. Members of the Sophomores interested in becoming members of the Crown and Sword Society shall submit a letter of self-nomination to the chairman of the Nomination Committee.

4. These letters shall contain the prospective member's reasons for desiring membership, his extra-curricular activities, and scholastic achievements.

5. Upon receipt of these letters the committee chairman shall turn them over equally to members of the committee, split into teams of two, for the purpose of conducting interviews.

6. After the completion of these interviews the committee will deliberate as a whole and submit a list of twenty-five (25) prospective members to the Society with the specific merits of each.

Section 2 ELECTION

11 Each active member of the Society shall cast one vote for each of the fifteen (15) men he feels most qualified for membership. The fifteen men receiving the highest number of votes becoming active members of the Society upon initiation.

2. In event of a tie for the fifteenth position an immediate revote shall be held between the nominees involved to resolve the position.

3. The ten (10) unsuccessful candidates for membership shall be designated as alternates in case of future vacancies. Such vacancies shall be filled by the election of one of the alternates by standard election procedure.

4. The election shall be held one week from the presentation of the qualifications of prospective members to the Society.

5. Election shall be by secret ballot. Absentee ballots shall be accepted only on the first ballot.

ARTICLE II - DUTIES OF OFFICERS

Section 1. The President shall preside at all meetings of the Society. He shall appoint all committees, designate committee chairmen, and act as an "ex-officio" member of all committees. It shall be his duty to supervise and co-ordinate the functions of the Society.

Section 2. The Vice-President shall assist the President in his duties and shall assume the duties of the President in event of absence or permanent vacancy of his office.

Section 3. The Secretary shall keep the minutes of each meeting and shall have charge of all correspondence.

Section 4. The Treasurer shall have charge of all finances pertaining to the Society. Upon request, he shall render an account of the financial status of the Society.

Section 5. The Historian shall compile a record of all important or significant activities of the Society, which occur during the year.

ARTICLE III - MEETINGS

Section 1. Regular meetings of the Society shall be held weekly at a time to be determined by the President.

Section 2. Special meetings may be called at any time at the discretion of the President.

Section 3. Two-thirds of the total membership shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

Section 4. Those members who miss three meetings without a valid excuse shall be dismissed from the Society.

Section 5. Any member missing a meeting with a valid excuse shall turn in a written excuse to the President of the Society prior to the next official meeting, otherwise his absence shall be considered unexcused. The validity of the excuse shall be determined by the President of the Society.

Section 6. Meetings shall be conducted according to "Robert's Rules of Order - Revised", except when in opposition to the constitution of the Society.

ARTICLE IV - VOTING

Section 1. Voting shall ordinarily be by voice or upon request by a show of hands or secret ballot.

Section 2. Absentee ballots shall not count except where specified otherwise.

ARTICLE V - APPAREL

Section 1. All members shall be required to wear the Crown and Sword jacket with tie at all Society functions when acting in an official capacity.

INTERCLASS

These four lawyers were also judges last year and three of them have debated previously in college tournaments themselves.

MANY TO PARTICIPATE

Response seems to be running quite high among students this year. The Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen have submitted 4, 8, 4 and 4 men respectively to the contests. Two of these teams were undefeated last year.

Each victory will add five points to inter-class point totals and winning team members will receive a prize of ten dollars. Individual trophies are also awarded to the best debater on the affirmative side and correspondingly, to the best negative debater.

Dr.Bogorad Attacks Federal Censorship

"Though parents may shudder at the thought of obscene literature coming into the hands of their children, the destruction of every obscene book on earth would probably not advance them one step nearer success in their protective efforts. For children will find a way -- they always have and always will."

Thus spoke Dr. Samuel N. Bogorad, associate professor of English at UVM, Wednesday evening to an audience of St. Michael's students and faculty members in a lecture on "Sense and Censorship".

Dr. Bogorad proceeded, "Creative obscenity on their (children) part has a habit of triumphing over critical censorship on the part of their parents or anyone else. Is it not a truth that most normal persons, in one period or another of their development, experience a hunger for obscenity that is more or less intesne? But whatever its intensity, however long or short its span of influence, it is beyond the reach of police-power censorship, because it is a hunger that is capable of self-satisfaction, that feeds upon itself."

In commencing his lecture, Dr. Bogorad distinguished between the four main areas in which censorship operates or attempts to operate. These main areas generally are: (1) military censorship; (2) religious censorship; (3) political censorship; and finally (4) moral censorship.

The UVM English professor stated that there is more unanimity of agreement in the field of military censorship than in any of the other areas. He realized that military secrecy is "an accepted desirederatum of modern life" --and few persons would question the right and the desirability of censoring military correspondence, especially in time of war, and probably under certain circumstances, in time of peace."

"In the exclusive sense of the term," said Dr. Bogorad, "there is no such thing in this country as religious censorship." This, however, was not always so, since though our fore fathers came here seeking religious liberty, it was liberty for themselves, and not for those who differed with them.

Except for special instances, during time of war, there has been astonishing little official political censorship in this country. Dr. Bogorad well illustrated an example of one of the comic iornies of censorship---- "that a movie producer can safely say the administrationis inept, corrupt, and rottwn---but woe betide the person who publicly attacks Coca Cola or Lucky Strike."

VERMONT STATUE

The heart of the matter, Dr. Bogorad stated is the realm of moral censorship. The agencies involved include the federal government with its laws prohibiting the import and export of obscene materials, or the use of the mails for distribution of obscene materials. State governments and municipal governments likewise have statues dealing with obscene materials. It is interesting to note that Vermont was the first state to adopt such a statute--in 1821. Dr. Bogorad stated that though the cost of living has increased since then, the price of immorality, set in 1821 at $200, remains constant in Vermont.

NFCCS Rejects SMC Resolution

Last weekend, Feb. 15-17, the New England NFCCS Winter Council meeting was held at Mt. St. Mary's College in Hooksett, New Hampshire. Eight delegates from St. Michael's attended the conference and submitted a resolution for the consideration of the organization.

The resolution submitted read as follows:

"Whereas politics is the President is empowered by the Constitution of the United States to conduct foreign policy in all possible and legitimate quests for peace; Be It Resolved that we, the New England Region of the National Federation of Catholic College Students, fully endorse the practice of presidential conferences in this country, whether or not these powers are now, or have been, in accord with our national policies or moral standards."

DEFEATED

This resolution became a controversial topic of the conference and was defeated only after a heated debate. "Many of the schools present hesitated to adopt such a stand due to a kind of dogmatic Catholicism that was completely misinformed," asserted Senior Delegate J. Paul Kane.

REPORTS

Other business consisted of reports from the Secretary, Treasurer and various committee heads, as well as evaluations from the Regional President and Vice-President.

President James Rourke of Fairfield University reported that the New England Region had been instrumental in effecting a shift in next summer's National Congress site from San Francisco to New York. "This will enable a large number of delegates from this region to attend," said Rourke.

LITERARY CONTEST

It was also announced that the judges for the Regional Literary Contest would be: Mother Williams of Manhattanville, Essays; Rielly Hughes. short stories and William K. Winset of Yale, short stories. The deadline for entires is March 6.

SMC President Guest Speaker On March 17

The Very Rev. Francis E. Moriarty, S.S.E., President of St. Michael's College, will be the principal speaker at the seventh annual St. Patrick's Day Dinner in Springfield, Mass. Sponsored by the Hampden County Ancient Order of Hivernians, the affair is under the chairmanship of State Rep. William C. Sullivan.

Fr. Moriarty was selected to be the speaker for this occassion through his work at St. Michael's College and of previous years.

Ninth president of St. Michael's and a past president of the New England Catholic Association, he is one of the youngest college presidents in the country. He was named president in 1952 after a brilliant record as teacher and administrator in high school and college. When he was called to head his alma mater, he was religious superior and first principal of Cardinal Mindszenty High School at Dunkirk, New York.

At St. Michael's, Fr. Moriarty organized and served as first moderator of the Student Council. He helped promote the NFCCS on campus. As alumni secretary, he organized new chapters, established the Alumni News, now "Class", and annual alumni awards. As president he is largely responsible for the erection of Alumni Hall.

The Campus is My Beat

By Tom Leavitt

Anyone who says that SMC students must have written invitations to attend the lectures sponsored by the Student Council is stepping on dangerous ground. Because the lectures are financed by the entire student body they are open to all, with or without a written or verbal invitation. This is not to say that Bill Chiasson, chairman of the series, was wrong last week when he invited only 100 students to attend the discussion of life behind the Iron Curtain. He issued the written invitations as part of a well-thought-out psychological campaign to arouse interest in the lecture series. So, written invitations or not, if you're interested in attending the final two lectures, you'll be admitted.

Phil Howrigan, a senior Education concentrator, has taken over the leadership of the Mortimer Adler Education club, the presidency of which Dan O'Hear relinquished because of a heavy academic load. Phil has a job on his hands during the next few weeks in organizing the many committees necessary to plan the annual two-day convention of the Vermont college chapters of the Student National Education Association. He tells us that the convention has tentatively been scheduled for April 6 and 7, on our campus.

Another Chemistry concentrator has received a fellowship for graduate work in Chemistry at the University of Michigan; the award covers tuition and living expenses for the academic year. If both of our well-rounded Michaelmen who have received fellowships from this university accept them, they should have fun comparing their broad background in philosophy and humanities with those graduates of colleges who specialize in specialization and the elective system.

Here's good news for long-suffering friends of long-suffering History concentrators: Prof. O'Beirne has reduced the number of "term papers" necessary to complete History 410 to seven. Those planning on graduate work take consolation in the fact that only one thesis is necessary for an M.A. The report that the Dean (himself a student of history) was quoted last year as saying he doubted that he could pass the Comprehensive in History fails to phase the nine descendants of Thucydides, who have been immuned to almost anything after two seminars in their concentration.

Dick Manning's Sabre Air Command has taken on the task of conducting a school for cadet NCOs in AFROTC, in an effort, Dick says, "to shape them up, so that they may be of use to Flight and Squadron Commanders, and prepare themselves for the advanced course in AFROTC." As we understand it, the school, which will run for six weeks or so, is being run on a voluntary basis for cadets who want to know as much as possible about their job. It means more time each week on AFROTC of course, but the effort would appear to be well-spent if the goal of a knowledgeable, well-disciplined group of cadet NCOs is the result. The Sabre Air Command deserves a pat on the back for its efforts.

Houde Wins Physics Prize

Each year the Chemical Rubber Publishing Company awards a Handbook of chemistry and physics to the student at St. Michael's maintaining the highest average in physics for the first semester. Recipient of this year's award is Donald Houde, a sophomore, from Hamden, Connecticut.

The book, presented in an informal manner in Mr. Michael's office, is valued at ten dollars and will bear his name engraved in gold. Mr. Houde is a chemistry major and has completed this semester with a general average of 91.6

When asked to what he attributed his mastery of physics, Houde replied, "Physics is my favorite course, so I find no chore in studying it."

COUNCIL

The Council then moved to committee reports and the business of the Winter Weekend was debated. Mr. Yula presented a budget and a financial report that was open to criticism. He estimated his deficit at $436 and various other opinions as to the deficit resulted in an hour of debate.

MATHEMATICS "DIFFICULT"

The arithematics of the report seemed to be too difficult for all of assembled leaders to master. The difficulty centered about the fact that Father Duford had granted the Outing Club $200 to spend on the weekend. The Council members could not decide where the money should fit in the report.

President Eaton turned the chair over to Vice-President Walter Bellcourt in the midst of the debates. Bellcourt was determined to settle the matter and proceeded to do so contrary to rules of parliamentary procedure. Mr. Bellcourt presented an accurate accounting of the funds but in the course of doing so the meeting became chaotic. The two new Hungarian visitors were no doubt impressed with their first Council meeting, for it was certainly entertaining and fiery.

A motion was made to accept the budget and then rescinded as the time limit of the meeting expired. A motion to extend the limits of debate was rendered by Mr. Kane and declared in order by the Parliamentarian and Chairman. Fifteen minutes of violent points of order ensued, after which the motion was defeated and the meeting adjourned.

SEPCIAL MEETING

As a result of the confused climax of Tuesday's meeting, a special meeting was held the following night The report of the weekend was accepted with the deficit placed at $236. It was announced that pending a financial report the budgets of all the campus clubs will be frozen.

Panel Discusses Communist Life

A closed panel discussion sponsored by the Student Council, "Life Behind The Iron Curtain", was conducted Feb. 14 in Science 107. It featured the inside stories of four "Freedom Fighters" on the recent rebellion in Hungary.

The panel of nine consisted of SMC students Tom Johnson, Jack Coffey, Jerry Morrissey and Carlisle Coates, who put the questions to four Hungarian students whose names were withheld. Bill Chiasson, Student Council Lecture Committee Chairman, was the discussion leader. The questions, which ranged over a wide variety of life under the Communists, were interpreted by Rev. Stephen Bekesi, S.J., Chaplain for Hungarian students here.

KEEP INTEREST

Although it was necessary to interprete the questions to them, the Hungarian panel members answered in English. Their English was halting and forced but they held the undivided attention of the packed house as they told of their experiences under Communism.

Some of the points of particular interest were the conditions existing in Hungarian Universities. Coming from the University of Budapest, most of the panel members said that their professors taught Communism because they had no other choice in the matter but did not necessarily believe in it. They also stated that in Hungarian schools there is a heavy emphasis on technical training to supplement the growing Communist powers. "It seems," said one of the panel members, "there is a growing policy of discrimination against Catholics in education and better jobs."

TRAVEL RESTRICTIONS

To further illustrate Communist life in Hungary, the panel reported on the conditions of travel. With the absence of cars, due to their high expense, the people travel by bicycle or train. If a trip is to entail absence for more than 24 hours, it is necessary to register destinations, purpose and times of departure and return. Travel within 20 miles of any border without special permission and, of course, travel outside the country, is also forbidden.

The question of the military obligation for every young man was put forth and it was found that a two to three year period in the service is compulsory. But, as one of the panel members said, "In the Hungarian army we had Russian uniforms, education and officers, which is responsible for a very low moral among the troops.

In answer to a question of the causes of the rebellion and the support it received from the people, one Hungarian student replied, "We had waited so many terrible years to be given our freedom that waiting any longer seemed useless. In the rebellion, all Hungary was one man going against the Russians."

KNIGHTS EXTEND VICTORY STREAK TO EIGHT

St Anselm's Routed As Denmead Cools O'Donnell

By BILL CASEY

In their latest and one of their best endeavors to date the St. Michael's Purple Knights topped St. Anselm's 85-66 in an action packed contest at Burlington Memorial Auditorium. The win strengthened St. Michael's contention for top honors among New England's small colleges.

FAST ACTION

The contest which proved to be a great defensive as well as offensive battle produced tense action right from the start. During the early stages of the game play remained rather close. The Purple playing a deliberate brand of ball hit on many inside shots. And midway through the first half the home club Knights led 22-14, big Hank Gretkowski pumping 13 of these through.

DENMEAD DEFENSIVE STANDOUT

The Winooski Parker's defense, a big factor throughout the entire tilt and particularly impressive during the first half was sparked by Drew Denmead. Denmead who also had a good night in the scoring department did a tremendous job covering St. Anselm's high scoring Frank O'Donnell. And before the half ended 38-29 in favor of the Jacobsmen, Captain Bernie Cieplicki, able floor general, passed the 1000 point mark of his college career.

SAME MARGIN

For the first few minutes of the second half the two teams matched each other, basket-for-basket. The great rebounding of Gretkowski and "Pickles" Wegrzynski during this period especially, proved a big factor in the Knight's favor. The steady flow of scoring continued and with eight quick points by accurate Drew Denmead, the Michaelmen led, 57-46. 9:18 left to play. From this point on the Purple lead increased. Though Hank Gretkowski left the game with his fifth personal foul, big Joe Spychalsky came in to take up where Hank left off. Looking very good in reserve, Spychalsky poured through 10 points, the Knights now rapidly pulling away. The Hawks from St. Anselm's, now tried an all court press and with this rather futile attempt at a comeback the contest closed.

Five Knights hit double figures, the top tallies being registered by Bernie Cieplicki and Hank Gretkowski with 23 and 21 respectively.

Squires Win Over Lyndon

Playing against Lyndon Teacher's College in their latest outing, Ed Markey's Frosh hoopsters dumped the Teacher's 79-59 at the St. Michael's gym. The Frosh looked good even without the services of center Don Jones. Taking over Jones' post, lanky Charlie Brown came through in fine fashion, hooping 11 points and snaring many rebounds.

CLOSE FIRST HALF

During the first half the match was fairly even-steven for over three fourths of the time. Both teams were impressive defensively, the Teacher's with a varying zone defense, and the Squire playing a close man-to-man. The scoreboard read 28-27 with the Teacher's on top and the half almost over. After a time out, the Squires managed to build a slim lead, Jim Browne registering two quick points in about 4 minutes and at halftime the Squires had moved out in front 37-32.

SCORING AND TEMPO FASTER

The scoring now picked up as all of the Squires found the range. Likewise the tempo of the action was quickened and midway through the period, St. Mike's had a more comfortable lead 56-45. During this time it was noticeable the small number of rebounds the Teachers got with Charlie Brown really up there. From here on in hte gap became gradually wider. And with the final whistle, hte Squires were resting comfortably on top 79-59.

Jim Browne's 23 points were tops for St. Mike's. Zietler and McGovern were next with 19 and 18 points respectively. Brooks led the Lyndon scoring, pushing through 17.

The win boosted the Squire's season's record to a highly successful 10-1 total with one game left, that a home game against Dartmouth on Feb. 28.

The Squire's will be out avenge their only loss of the season, suffered earlier this year at the hands of the Big Green Frosh.

By Jim Breagy

Last Sunday night was certainly a highmark in St. Michael's basketball as the Purple Knights played one of the greatest games ever witnessed at the Auditorium. St. Anselm's wanted that victory more than any they've won all season but they just were not up to our club. As a matter of fact, there may not be a team in New England who could have taken them on that particular night.

The job by "Doc" Jacobs and Ed Markey, in getting the club up for two big ones in a row, was certainly commendable. When one considers that St. Anselm's was not scouted by any of our people it is even more remarkable. Drew Denmead played Frank O'Donnell as though he had been playing against no one but O'Donnell for the past few years, and the little Hawk bit the dust as did one Clyde Lord. Offensively the club hit for 52.6 percent from the floor as they made 30 of their 57 attempts. That's good shooting in anybody's book!

With St. A's behind them, the Knights move onto Colby and another game of much interest. Both teams are under consideration for the N.C.A.A. Small College Tournament which is being fielded for the first time this year. Other clubs who are being given a looksee by the N.C.-A.A. Committee are, in the order of their ability, Providence, St. Anselm's, Amherst and Brandeis. Providence very impressive 22-point win over Loyola (Chicago) could be a factor in this choice as is Amherst's victory over Holy Cross. After dropping Sunday's night fray to us by 19 points and losing to Providence, it does not look as though the Hawks will get the bid. St. Anselm's did, however, beat Brandeis and Providence has taken the toll of Colby. If we take the Mules by a sizeable margin on Saturday night it should eliminate them from the running and bring it down to a choice between St. Michael's, Providence and Amherst.

Samson Spychalsky . . . Their may be something to the legend of Samson's hair afterall. When Joe Spychalsky played against LeMoyne last month, he was badly in need of a coiffure to clip his lengthy locks. Joe came off the bench to throw 10 points. After the game he got a haircut and proceeded to go scoreless throughout the next six games. When the St. Anselm's tilt came around his hearing was again being impaired by his then unclipped cheveux. Another 10 points! . . . . . Joe will now avoid the striped pole under the Hotel Vermont until after the season.

Denmead At His Best . . . Commenting on Sunday night's game, Drew Denmead called it one of the two best games he ever turned in. The other was when West Catholic High of Philadelphia defeated Overbrook of the same city a few years back. Overbrook then had a fellow by the name of Wilt Chambelain. Seems Wilt scored 29 points as his team lost to the Burrs 46-38. (I may be wrong on that score). The way I heard it, four guys covered Wilt, while Drew took on the rest of the team.
